Whether a class may be certified or a class-wide damages judgment affirmed where plaintiffs’ common “proof” of damages is a model that (a) does not purport to determine the actual damages of most class members, but instead applies an “average” overcharge estimated from a sample of transactions of very different purchasers, or (b) assumes that defendants engaged in multiple antitrust violations, even though plaintiffs attempted to prove only one violation at trial. 14-554	11/13/14	In re Managed Care Litigation	Antitrust	Cert. denied 2/23/15 Respondent Brief (1/14/15) Petitioner Reply Brief (1/27/15) Select Amicus Briefs: American Medical Association	May a settlement agreement in a class action waive all class members' rights to pursue statutory remedies for the defendant's future violations of the federal antitrust laws, as a divided panel of the Eleventh Circuit held, or is such a waiver void because it violates the antitrust laws or public policy, as the Third, Fifth, Sixth, and Eighth Circuits have held, and as this Court

				16 of the Clayton Act, to subsequently bind a litigant in a claim for damages under Sec. 4 of the Clayton Act? Whether the Supreme Court's decisions enjoining mergers under Sec. 7 of the Clayton Act, which have never been overruled and which have been interpreted by the Seventh Circuit to collectively stand for the proposition that a nontrivial acquisition of a significant rival in an industry with a trend towards concentration is presumptively illegal, are still binding and viable since many of the lower courts have either ignored them completely or overruled them de facto?
